FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

MONEY. PUBLIC LEDGER OFFICE. MEMPHIS, TENN., April 11, 1876. The money market to-day was quiet and devoid of animation; in fact, there was nothing doing aside from the regular routine of local checking and depositing. The banks report currency in abundant supply, with money easy; collections are easy and balances well kept up. The banks readily discount all firstclass paper offering at 10@12 B cent. W annum; street rates on short loans rule at 11@21 B cent. B month. Exchange continues in good supply, with the rates steady and unchanged, as follows: Buying on New York at to discount and selling at to premium; New Orleans, buying at to discount and selling at par. Brokers are offering 112@112# for gold, with few transactions. There was little or no movement in scrips or bonds, with no transactions worthy of note.

COTTON. The market this morning opened quiet and dull, with prices nominal and unchanged. The rain and depression of the Liverpool and New York markets had a depressing effect on the market here; hence, transactions were of a limited character. Estimated sales for the day, 1000 bales; sales yesterday were 1000 bales, 400 of which were taken by exporters, 500 by spinners and 100 by speculators. New York spots opened dull, with nothing doing, and at noon were easy, with futures steady. Liverpool spots were heavy, with prices unchanged and arrivals weak and flat. New Orleans was quiet. DOTTON BICHANGE QUOTATIONS — STANDARD AMBRICAN CLASSIFICATION. COTTON EXCHANGE STATEMENT. tock, September 1, 1875. Leceived since last statement...

The Centennial Ledger

The proprietor of the Daily and Weekly Memphis Puntto Langua announces with pleasure and confidence that this paper enters upon the Centennial year of our National existence with brighter prospects as a live Democratic and Conservative Family Newspaper than at any former period.

We are supplied with the best modern fa cilities for publishing a newspaper and reach a larger number of readers than ever before unusual spectacle is presented to the country of the upper and lower Houses in Congress being controlled respectively by opposite poitical parties. For the first time since 1860 the Democrats and Conservatives control one branch of Congress, and the ablest modern statesmen are playing a bold and desperate game for the political control of the Government. Within the year two candidates will be nominated for the Presidency, and the people, in their sovereign capacity, will elect a President and Vice President, and in many of the States, as in Tennessee, elect a Govenor, Congressmen, members of the General Assembly and important local efficers. The ablest talent of the nation will be arrayed on both sides. Every intelligent citizen, white and colored, will desire to be informed from day to day and week to week of what is going on. The Centennial of our Independence will be inaugurated with imposing ceremonies at Philadelphia, on the Fourth of July, in the presence of thousands of people from every State in the Union and representatives of the principal nations on earth. It will be a year full of stirring events, an upheaval and commingling of the masses not to be witnessed

The Langua will keep abreast of the times, and its readers will see the daily history of the world "held up to the mirror." The latest news from all quarters will be presented in a condensed form and such comment thereon as an intelligent view of the subject. may suggest. The LEDGER is of the people and for the people, and in full sympathy with the laboring and tax-paying masses. Their judgment and their instinctive conclusions when ascertained will be accepted in preference to the dictum of politicians or the wisdom of statesmen. We hold to the oldfashioned theory-that the people are the sovereigns, and all office-holders public ser vants, to be rewarded only for a faithful pe rformance of duty within prescribed lim its, and condemned for breach of trust or abuse of delegated powers. In future, as in the past, the Lunger will be a bold, independent Democratic journal, standing by its party when right, but ever ready to condemn unworthy men or measures. An earnest endeavor will be made during the present year to correct abuses in public places, to bring about as strict and careful management of the people's money as in a successful private business. To this end we shall continue to labor, urging economy and reform at every possible point without positive injury to the public service. Issues of grave importance will be decided this year. Men and parties will be made and unmade, and precedents set up that will have a great bearing upon the future political history of the country. As a nation of United States we have made great progress, but whether we have preserved intact the principles of our ancient Constitution, is a question yet to be decided at the ballot-box, Whether we really govern ourselves or are governed by party, will be better known when the voice of the people is heard next November. It will avail us little that we had a Washington, a Jefferson and a Jackson if the Government passes once more into the hands of a purely partisan and sectional administration.

In our columns will always be found a choice variety of original and selected matter adapted to the general reader and the family circle, and it is needless to say that nothing will appear to offend the taste of the most cultivated and refined. The several departments of the paper will be conducted, by experienced journalists who follow the profession because they are in love with it. and who appreciate public tastes and public sensibilities. The Langua is Detacoratic, but eminently conservative, and is ever ready to give all sides and shades of opinion a fair hearing. The editorials will be live and pointed, but carefully considerate.

Much space will be devoted to local news and topics. Full and accurate river and market reports will be given oach day. And it will be our constant aim to give the 'at est and most accurate news on all subjects, and to be considered a reliable and safe advisor rather than a flashy, sensatir mal journal. The confidence in our ability to redeem promises has been evilated by the public in a substantial and grewing, patronage, which is at once satisfactory and assuring. Our list of subscribers wil' compare favorably with any in the South , and the support of merchants and businers men has been all shat could be asked or expected.

Hoping to greatly increase our circle of readers during the year by making the LEDGER, if possible, a better paper than ever before, we wish each and all a happy New Year, and shall enter upon the duties before us with renewed energy and high hopes of continued usefulness and increasing out ence as a publicajournal.
